

Dude, Where's My Car?

Category: Blog

written by Valkris | August 4, 2021

I walk most everywhere in town.

Today was no different, but I happened to need to move something large and took my car.

I went and saw a friend whom I would normally walk to after a long day...

So I walked home, upon arriving there I notice my car is missing... seems I had parked on the far side of that lot and totally forgot as i left chatting with my friend as we have so many times in the past; I walked home when we are done

Oops, #OnlyHuman