

The Slut has moved out of town

I am very happy to report that the slut has moved out of town.

Something made me want to check, and it seems both from online records, and social media posts; they are happily elsewhere in the world [California].

I am good with this. The slut is gone, I can now walk around town without having to worry who else has been sleeping with the slut this week. Don't get me wrong, boy did I enjoy her charms. She was fun, exciting, and enjoyable (when she was not, ask...). The past year plus has been ok. I've done my work, pursued my dreams on a business, something to do with my life, as I moved forward from the wonderful time I had with The Slut, but it's time now to totally let go. She is gone, and so is her shit.

Thank you.
